

AKE - Security and Political Risk Management Firm Opens New Office in New York

New York, NY, September 12, 2008 --(PR.com)-- On 11 September 2008 AKE, a leading provider of political and security risk management services, announced the opening of a new office in downtown Manhattan, New York. With offices in Hereford, London, Aberdeen, Atlanta, Singapore, Sydney and Baghdad, the addition of this strategic location in New York is a logical continuation of AKE's dynamic expansion in the international marketplace and will allow the company to better serve its diverse international client-base.

AKE provides a comprehensive security and political risk consultancy service to government, private sector and international organizations. From underwriters insuring terrorist perils, to bankers and lawyers concerned about political interference in project finance, AKE provides a competitive edge while supporting the due diligence process.

“Established in 1991, AKE was the first company in the world to conceive and deliver a safety course designed specifically for professionals working in complex environments. As a result of our initiative, training has now become mandatory for most international media organizations, and our multi-national clients now include the energy, mining, NGO, engineering, aerospace and accountancy professions. Since then our expertise has grown to include a variety of risk mitigation services. We show our clients how to achieve safety and success through taking control of their environments and protecting their assets thereby gaining a competitive edge and improving efficiency. All of our existing clients have reported a direct business advantages as a result of our services.”
