Palm Spring, CA, November 29, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Skin 2 Skin Care™ creator, Ken Simpson, has developed a 21st Century intensive, age-defying skin care line formulated specifically for mature and age-affected skin for those 35years of age and older. Skin 2 Skin Care™ products like Skin 2 Skin's Age Intervention Cream, the Un-Wrinkle Forehead & Crow's-Feet Cream and the Anti-Sagging Collagen Generating Serum are loaded with some of the highest concentrations of antiaging elements known to science. Components like Dermaxyl which enhances the production of collagen, Argireline which relaxes facial tension, leading to the relaxation of facial muscles that contribute to lines and wrinkles and Matrixyl, a natural peptide that stimulates an increase in collagen and facilitates firmness all work together in repairing existing and preventing future skin damage.

All of Skin 2 Skin's formulations are non-toxic, natural cleansers, creams, serums and masks that have antioxidant elements that quench free radicals and offer protection against environmental pollutants and toxins. These products have cosmeceutical ingredients formulated to deliver comparatively safer alternative results to invasive procedures like Botox and collagen injections. Along with the technologically advanced products that have their importance in their products, so do traditional elements like vitamins a, c and e. These components are found in their Photoaging Cream which was created to repair and prevent what we call solar scars or UV damage brought about by excessive exposure to the sun's harmful rays. Whether you are male or female, all of their formations are crafted to improve a person's appearance because putting your best face forward is important.

Since a radiant appearance is only a reflection of optimal health and well being, the designers of Skin 2 Skin Care heed as much about what you put in your body as to what you put on your body. Exercising and eating well is a vital factor to a complete and healthy lifestyle that lends credence to our saying that beauty is inside and out. Taking care of your mind and body are important but so is taking care of the environment that surrounds you every day. Skin 2 Skin finds that implementing "green" practices helps to complete the well-rounded circle for a triumphant and healthy existence. Their company, for example, uses local ingredients to conserve fuel consumption, recycles and uses recycled elements throughout the company. They have even implemented a reduction in packaging in their skin care line to help save and protect our fragile environment.

At Skin 2 Skin Care, the entire package is important for a healthy and successful life. Take care of your mind, your body and your environment. Beauty is more than deep but beauty at any age is beauty
