

Permitting for Boston Independence Day Tea Party Goes Down to the Wire

Permit for Parkman Bandstand was finally approved on Wednesday July 1st after application had been on file since May 29th. Sponsors of the Boston Independence Day Tea Party say they intended to hold the rallies in support of the Constitution and individual rights without the permit if necessary.

Boston, MA, July 03, 2009 --(PR.com)-- Foundation for Citizen Solutions, LLC a Massachusetts state registered educational institution announced today that it had obtained final permits for the Boston Independence Day Tea Party to be held Saturday, July 4th from 12 to 2 pm at the Parkman Bandstand on the Boston Common and from 3 to 7 pm at Christopher Columbus Park.

In making the announcement, Brad Marston, Managing Director of the foundation said “Well it definitely came down to the wire but we were going to hold the rally with or without a permit. I suggested to the Boston Parks Department that if they wanted the visual of citizens being arrested for holding a rally in support of the Constitution and individuals rights in Boston on Independence Day they could knock themselves out.” The permit was approved the next day.

Marston also noted that two additional distinguished speakers had been added to the program. The Honorable Daniel Itse, P.E. is a New Hampshire State Representative and constitutional expert. Most recently he has gained national recognition for authoring and introducing NH-HCR6 Affirming States Rights based on Jeffersonian Principles.

Dr. John Lewis of Duke University and the Ayn Rand Center will be joining two of his colleagues, Dr. John Ridpath, and Keynote Speaker, Dr. Yaron Brooke, Executive Director of the Ayn Rand Institute.

Marston also noted that while the Boston Independence Day Tea Party is a rally in support of Constitutional principles, free market ideals and individual liberties, “Governor Patrick's recent signing of the huge sales tax increase and hinting of a gas tax hike as well, may come up.”

###

Contact Information:

Foundation for Conservative Solutions, LLC
Ben Kilgore
978-998-1293
mediarelations@letsgetthisright.com
ConservativeSolutions.org

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/163123>

News Image:

