New York, NY, October 05, 2009 --(PR.com)-- FundingPost announced this year's winner of the Pitching Across America Competition. Ivy Exec was elected as the National Winner for 2009. The competition aims to identify the hottest emerging companies in the country, with angel investors and VCs providing their expert opinions. This is the 6th year of the competition. All previous years winners of the competition have gone on to successfully raise capital.

A panel of over 130 angel investors and VCs elected Ivy Exec as the hottest company to pitch to investors across America. As the winner, Ivy Exec will present their business plan at every FundingPost event nationwide.

"We are excited to be the winner of the Pitch Across America Competition. We look forward to attending FundingPost's events and meeting potential investors. I believe these events will provide an excellent opportunity for us to present our business," said Elena Bajic, Founder and CEO of IvyExec.com

FundingPost supports entrepreneurial initiatives around the country and has played a key role in opening the doors for several successful emerging companies.

"We are thrilled to have Ivy Exec as this years winner!" said Joe Rubin, Director, FundingPost, Their executive summary displayed all the qualities of an ideal company raising capital. They've got a great product, a huge market and an amazing management team that can take this company to the next level. We look forward to having them pitch to investors at our next event!"

Ivy Exec has been in business since 2007 and has penetrated the niche job market with their unique approach to prescreening every candidate before granting them access to their exclusive jobs. They have successfully positioned themselves as the trusted online tool for MBAs and elite executives.

Vadim Polikov, President of Astrum Solar, a solar installation company shared his experience:

"We wanted the very best we could find for our VP of Sales position. We tried other niche job boards and two headhunting agencies. After a month of searching and 300+ resumes, we still didn't have anyone of the caliber we were looking for. Then I tried www.ivyexec.com. Within 3 days of posting with them, we had three incredible candidates who blew the competition away. I just wish I had found Ivy Exec earlier."
