

NHDBuzz.ca Launched by NewHomesDirectory.com

A press release and public relations site specifically for Canadian Home Builders and Developers

Vancouver, Canada, October 23, 2009 --(PR.com)-- NewHomesDirectory.com has unveiled NHDBuzz.ca for Canadian home builders, developers and real estate marketing professionals. With free sign-up and unlimited press release postings, these news items can be found on search engines such as Google, Yahoo! and Bing. NHDBuzz.ca gives industry professionals the opportunity to promote their properties on the internet without cost or reliance on other parties. Builder representatives can post themselves and take control of the flow of information displayed on the internet. Since June 2008, over 1,700 press releases have been posted and have been viewed over eight million times.

NHDBuzz.ca provides the building industry another internet media solution crafted specifically for new home builders. NHDBuzz.com has provided a platform for US Builders and Developers to post their news and updates; now Canadian homebuilders will have a distinct Canadian platform.

“We are excited about our entry into the Canadian Homebuilding market, says Jim Adams,” CEO of NewHomesDirectory.com. “Canadian builders and developers are engaged in social media and online marketing and this site now provides real estate professionals with a simple means to broadcast their information.” NHDBuzz.ca coincides with the recent launch of seven Canadian New Homes Directory sites - Vancouver, BC Interior, Calgary, Edmonton, Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

NewHomesDirectory.com has an exclusive marketing alliance in Canada with Lasso Data Systems Inc. “We are really excited to be offering the suite of NewHomesDirectory.com services that connect consumers directly to new home builders, literally 1,000's of prospective buyers visit the city directories,” said Dave Clements, Lasso Data Systems, CEO, “NHDBuzz.ca is a free PR service and a terrific vehicle for delivering news about new projects and communities across Canada.”

About NewHomesDirectory.com

Founded in 2001 by CEO Jim Adams, NewHomesDirectory.com is an online directory devoted to connecting consumers with new home builders and developers in their area. Unlike other real estate listing sites, NewHomesDirectory.com links potential buyers directly to a home builder's community webpage, delivering traffic to builders instead of acting as an intermediary clearinghouse for leads. The company is also a leading-edge developer of revolutionary internet applications for real estate sales and marketing, including NHDBuzz.com, a press release hosting site for real estate companies featuring the latest industry news; the New Homes Professional Network at LinkedIn.com, providing networking opportunities and discussion of the latest trends for real estate sales and marketing professionals; and a high-definition video hosting site that will aid builders in producing and spotlighting video profiles of their latest communities, including soundtracks provided by some of today's hottest music artists.
