

GoDiginet Launch Gives Small Business Owners and Network Marketers Ways to Market Big on a Small Budget

The Story Behind Launch Of GoDiginet And One Of Go-Diginet's Top Leaders.

GoDiginet products include NetGreeters, Click-N-Go web builders, Ezsponder autoresponders and PowerHouseTools Flash website and Cd business card builders. Go-Diginet is a division of TMG.

Regina, Canada, December 22, 2006 --(PR.com)-- The launch of GoDiginet is welcome news to small business owners and work from home opportunity seekers.

GoDiginet is a company that markets products like NetGreeters, Click-N-Go website builders, Ezsponder email autoresponders and PowerHouseTools a flash website and CD business card business card builder to small business owners looking for affordable and effective marketing solutions.

The company just recently created new division to expand their products by word of mouth to their members warm market around the world rewarding those who refer people to Godiginet's product line.

With the recent launch of network marketing company GoDiginet, new success stories are being created and new leaders are emerging.

One of the biggest success stories since the recent launch of GoDiginet belongs to GoDiginet distributor Aaron Jones.

While learning the mlm industry over the past five years devoting his time to learning from people who earn as much as $150,000 U.S. a week Aaron has experienced both the ups and downs of gaining the right kind of experience in the mlm industry.

"I invested my first years in mlm wisely with a long term plan to find the top earners I could find and to learn from them and work as closely to them as I possibly could... then if possible create friendships with them and other leaders in any company."

"I was a sponge that soaked up all the useful information and habits I could" adds Aaron.

After Investing 5 years examining and listening to some of the top earners in network marketing and gaining experience hosting meetings around the globe from Canada to exotic destinations like Thailand and the Phillipines it is just now with GoDiginet that Aaron Jones is starting to noticeably be stepping out of some large shadows and has successfully made the transition from student of the industry to a young and driven leader.

"I was in Thailand when I first got a call from an industry friend about a new company in development called GoDiginet and I instantly saw this was the opportunity I could really shine in. I felt ready to be the go to guy, and wanted the challenge of building up a new company I felt had unlimited potential.

“GoDiginet at the time was still an idea and wasn't accepting members yet, but the offer to be a part of launch was extended.

“I said I don't want to wait for it to launch, I want to be a part of getting this company off the ground, and I flew back to N. America a week later to check it out.”

Aaron left the warm beaches of Thailand where he had spent the previous seven months for the return home to the cold winter of Canada, and dove right in providing valuable leadership and testing of the GoDiginet products for GoDiginet.

“Nothing was ready yet when I first joined. There were delays in launching and not all the products and training was ready yet. Not much was happening, most people were waiting for things to develop. I saw this as the opportunity I was looking for to step up and make things happen, not look at these things as an excuse to not get building an organization.”

Aaron's industry contact, Jack Howell, was surprised at how enthusiastic and successfully he has stepped into a leadership role with a fearlessness and determination to get things done while the majority waited to get started. “Aaron has taken to GoDiginet like a duck to water,” chuckles Jack.

While Aaron's friends thought he was crazy to leave Thailand and his old company for one that may not even get off the ground, it soon turned out to be the smartest business decision of his life.

After the first few months it looks like Aaron has made quite a name for himself in GoDiginet.

He is part of the fastest growing team in GoDiginet and is one of the most recognized names connected to this opportunity.

Aaron comments, "I've only met one person who earns six figures U.S. a week in mlm and that person's story was that they got involved with a company that didn't have everything ready yet at launch and they built anyways while everyone else sat back and waited, now they make huge money.

"I see the same situation here with GoDiginet for others to also step up right now before or shortly after the January 2007 launch and create a similar story for themselves," Aaron remarks.

If you would like to know more about GoDiginet you can visit <http://www.go-diginet.com> for more information.

###

Contact Information:

Go-Dignet

Aaron Jones

1-306-790-8338

Contact via Email

www.go-Dignet.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/25572>