

HungryFlix.com - Online Distributor for Independent Film, Videos and Music

HungryFlix.com Beta Launch. HungryFlix.com is an online distributor of premium independent video and audio exclusively targeted to portable media players such as the Apple iPod and Sony PSP. The Distribution Revolution is upon us. New website bringing video content providers and portable media player owners together.

Caldwell, NJ, January 21, 2007 --(PR.com)-- HungryFlix.com, the Internet's first distributor of premium, independent video content exclusively targeted to portable media players such as the Apple iPod and Sony PSP, is re-launching a beta testing phase today!

Industry estimates place global sales of Sony PSPs in the 400 million unit range. Similarly, consumers snapped up over 30 million iPod devices during 2006.

HungryFlix.com is drawing video content providers from across a wide range of genres. The site accepts shorts, Indie films, documentaries, animation, how-to videos, sports videos, etc. The goal of HungryFlix.com is to add another means of distribution for all the incredible indie content being produced today.

Content providers set the prices of their downloads, so they're always in control of their revenue. HungryFlix.com handles all hosting, marketing and technical assistance issues. In exchange, the company takes only a 40% cut of the download price, meaning 60% goes directly into the content provider's pocket.

From the portable video player owner's perspective, HungryFlix.com's goal is to give the people what they want: the widest array of compatible video content. Membership is always free and downloads start at just $0.99!

Video content providers who would like to take advantage of internet distribution and the iPod/PSP craze can contact Brian Andrews via email at brian@hungryflix.com. PSP and iPod owners who are hungry for great content can register online at www.HungryFlix.com.
