

BP Leverages "Data in Context" for Remediation Management

BP has expanded their use of the ENFOS Environmental Business Management System to include Environmental and Technical Data.

San Mateo, CA, January 13, 2011 --(PR.com)-- ENFOS, Inc. has announced that BP PLC recently elected to leverage the ENFOS Environmental Data Management Solution to compliment the ENFOS Financial Management Solution already deployed. BP joins other ENFOS Environmental Data Management Solution clients including Sunoco and TravelCenters of America.

By selecting ENFOS for environmental data management, BP and other ENFOS clients will accelerate data and reporting cycle times, improve information quality, increase the efficiency of employees and suppliers, and lower costs. ENFOS is seamlessly integrated with the client's preferred laboratories in order to facilitate the electronic transfer of laboratory data packages into a single platform. The ENFOS environmental data management solution also provides clients and environmental consultants with sample event planning, electronic chain of custody forms, schedule management, data quality checking, sample point management, field and O&M data management, remediation system management, chemical exceedance alerts, regulatory standards management, automated reporting, and mapping.

ENFOS CEO Craig Modesitt adds, "We are excited to expand our nine-year relationship with BP to include lab and field data. By combining financial information and environmental data, our clients' are able to leverage the ENFOS 'data in context' philosophy enabling analyses and cost savings opportunities never before possible."
