

DIDXchange Named One of Inc. 5,000 Application Partners

Pensacola, FL, April 06, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Super Technologies, Inc.'s DIDXchange www.didx.net announces its inclusion as one of Inc. 5000 Application Partners. Inc. magazine and Inc.com (www.inc.com) plans to expand the Inc. 500, Inc.'s acclaimed annual list of America's fastest-growing private companies, to include 4,500 more of these dynamic businesses.

John Koten, the CEO and Editor-in-Chief of Mansueto Ventures, that owns Inc. and Inc.com states, "...discover, learn about, and draw attention to even more of the private companies that are taking off right now. It's the best way to see the future of business as it is being created."

The top 500 companies on the Inc. 5,000 will still be known as the Inc. 500 and will appear in the September 2007 issue of Inc., with profiles of each based on CEO interviews. The Inc. 5,000 will be listed on Inc.com with basic information about each company, including a brief description of its business.

To be eligible for the Inc. 5,000, companies must be U.S.-based and independent, with four full calendar years of revenue generation. Companies must provide revenue figures for 2003, 2004, 2005 and an estimate for 2006 to qualify for consideration, via the online qualification form at www.inc5000.com or at the DIDXchange Inc. 5000 Partner logo at www.didx.net.

For the first time, Inc. is encouraging all independent, U.S.-based, privately held companies to fill out qualification forms for the Inc. 5,000, even if they believe they may not yet be eligible for the list. The Inc. 5,000 Project Manager Jim Melloan also states, "Sometimes eligible companies are so busy growing that they miss our application window, so we want to be able to track them and send them reminders when they become eligible for the list." The deadline for submitting the qualification form is April 15, 2007.

All companies that place on the Inc. 5,000 will be invited to the 2007 Inc. 500 conference, in Chicago at the Hilton, September 6-8, 2007.
