

Absolutely PR's Maggie Chamberlin Holben, APR, Receives Certification as an Industry Analyst Relations Practitioner

Maggie Chamberlin Holben, owner of Absolutely Public Relations in Metro Denver has been certified as an Industry Analyst Relations Practitioner (CIARP). Holben adds this professional certification to her credentials, in addition to being accredited in public relations (APR), which she achieved and has maintained through the Public Relations Society of America since 1985. The CIARP certification is offered through The Knowledge Capital Group Inc. (KCG), Austin, TX.

Denver, CO, October 23, 2005 --(PR.com)-- Maggie Chamberlin Holben, owner of Absolutely Public Relations in Metro Denver has been certified as an industry analyst relations practitioner (CIARP). The announcement is made by Holben who says she now holds the CIARP professional certification in addition to being accredited in public relations (APR) through the Public Relations Society of America. The CIARP certification is offered through The Knowledge Capital Group Inc. (KCG), Austin, TX (<http://www.knowledgecap.com>). KCG is the global leader and foremost authority in Industry Analyst Relations.

“I took part in KCG's 'Working With The Analysts' seminar in Orlando, FL, earlier this month and passed the certification exam that followed,” Holben explains, “Our training was lead by William S. Hopkins, CEO and founder of KCG, who as a former industry analyst and senior marketing executive brought an unparalleled depth of knowledge and insight to the seminar.”

According to Holben, she participated in this specialized training to expand and demonstrate her knowledge and understanding of analyst relations in order to more effectively counsel both existing and future Absolutely PR clients.

“Analyst relations isn't simply a repackaging of a media relations program targeted to journalists. The successful AR strategy is planned, timed and executed entirely differently,” Holben says. “KCG's seminar is recognized and used as training by the world's leading AR teams, including HP, IBM, Xerox, Cisco.”
