New "Om to Ohm" CD from Life In Balance - Techno Acoustic Weds Sacred Instruments

Salt Lake City, UT, May 08, 2007 --(PR.com)-- "Om to Ohm," the new recording from Steve and Ami Sciulli and Crystal Tones Music, weds Electron-ic Acoustic sound "in an ecstatic global groove" of tracks with sacred instruments. The official release date is May 8. "Om to Ohm" is a "high frequency scattering of sound seeds," according to Steven Sciulli, and is offered by the newly launched Crystal Tones label and Koch Records. Crystal Tones Music partners are William Jones, Steven Machat and Paul Utz. There is growing praise for the LIB duo who describe their expansive music as a "hybridized synthesis of New Age, Ambient and Electronic... a techno blend of sacred instruments, mostly specialty crystal bowls and Sachahachi flute merged with current technology that creates transformational sonic environments." Executive producers are Steven Machat, William Jones and Paul Utz and artistic producer is LIB.

Life In Balance has toured The States from Anchorage to Key West with a fresh and expansive "form of music that blurs influences and creates an atmosphere of sounds that encourage latent dimensions within the DNA spiral." Their appearances include national television, eclectic venues from festivals/theatres/museums to yoga/spa settings and New Thought venues to science centers.

Life In Balance's music is played on such shows as "The Living Room Concert" series and NPR's Echoes. They've shared stages with Deepak Chopra and performed with Krishna Das, Rusted Root and The Drepung Gomang Tibetan monks. Early influences include Fripp to Eno, Tangerine Dream to Genesis, Peter Gabriel and Vander Graaf Generator, a 1970's UK progressive rock band.
