

New Father's Day Websites Named by The Ratings Guy. Father's Day is June 17th.

Quickly make your way to trusted Father's Day websites, from adventure days, sporting gifts, fishing, boating, camping, surfing, to gardening, photography, gourmet food and more.

Portland, ME, June 11, 2007 --(PR.com)-- The Ratings Guy's new award-winning Father's Day websites are found at www.TheRatingsGuy.com. Remember Dad this year with something special without leaving your desk. Save time and energy using the trusted websites that deliver a unique experience and quality merchandise. With over 4.7 million search results found on Google for Father's Day, The Ratings Guy cuts to the chase with 18 great sites that are sure to impress. Each site passes the grade for Quality, Trust and Experience.

These Great Sites are all on the Web, and they would be much harder to find without them.

Some of the Top Father's Day websites include:

After5Catalog.com - Party and barware for the bartender
Dartagnan.com - Gourmet foods for the "foodie"
Excitations.com - Adventure days for a memorable and unique experience.
Swell.com - Boarding and beach gear for dad
Yardiac.com - Gardening for the ultimate yardman and more... at www.theratingsguy.com

The Ratings Guy has recognized websites in order to help consumers find the great sites sooner. Personal experience with the websites, and in most cases with their products and service levels help consumers find superior, safe and reliable businesses that meet or exceed high standards.

"On-line shopping is a huge and growing industry. Finding gift websites for your loved ones should be a personal and proven experience. The Ratings Guy has reviewed thousands of websites in order to deliver something for everyone," said Katherine Morrow company co-founder. "These Great Sites are all on the Web, and they would be much harder to find without us," she said. "Our Great Site listings help consumers to find the great sites sooner," she added.

The Ratings Guy was developed by a team, experienced in the consumer research and ratings field and frustrated with the search industry's inability to separate advertising from editorial. The company reviews and rates websites across an array of popular consumer lifestyle categories including: health, travel, house & home, pets, gourmet food, kids, shopping, and more. The Ratings Guy is an independent and objective resource, supported by research librarians and researchers (the original search engines) who seek to identify the very best Web resources. The company uses a proprietary review methodology to test sites against its own benchmarks for transparency, accuracy, timeliness, functionality, trust, and usefulness. The Ratings Guy hosts the Great Site Benchmarking Network, an exclusive group of Internet thought-leaders working to advance consumer empowerment on the Web. For more information about all of the lifestyle categories reviewed or how to get a site reviewed visit The Ratings Guy.

Contact:

John Morrow, Principal

The Ratings Guy, LLC

Tel: 207-338-0440

Fax: 207-636-8060

www.theratingsguy.com

Editors note: The Ratings Guy rating and review data is available at no charge to members of the working press. Use of the annotations from this list must be accompanied by: "Copyright 2007 by The Ratings Guy LLC, publisher of Great Website lists in popular lifestyle categories, see theratingsguy.com."

###

Contact Information:

The Ratings Guy

John Morrow

207-338-0440

KMorrow@TheRatingsGuy.com

www.TheRatingsGuy.com

44 High Street

Belfast, Maine

04915

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/41538>