

Sizzling New Spicy Food Websites Named by The Ratings Guy

Quickly find trusted websites for Summer BBQ, from grilling and smoking recipes to sources for spicy sauces and rubs. The Ratings Guy names great websites that meet the grade for quality, trust and experience.

Belfast, ME, July 03, 2007 --(PR.com)-- The Ratings Guy names new award-winning Spicy Food websites, found at www.TheRatingsGuy.com. The top spicy food websites incorporate interesting and educational information about what Foodies demand for grilling, including sources for unique food products. Websites that made the grade were reviewed by independent librarians who recognize resources that deliver high quality consumer content. Sites are critiqued for relevance, timeliness, source content, and quality of interactive experience. Foodies can save time and energy using the websites that deliver a trusted, quality and unique experience. Each site has earned The Ratings Guy Great Site seal of approval.

Some of the Spicy Food websites include:

BourbonQ.com - a blend of Kentucky's best with rich gourmet BBQ blends

Chow.com - informative, creative, tasty and sweet media make this a Bees Knees site

InsaneChicken.com - sauces, condiments, rubs and gifts for Summer BBQ

JHBuffaloMeat.com - Jackson Hole serves up the best wild game for the grill

JustSimplyGoodStuff.com - seasonings, herbs, spices and rubs, all custom mixed

And more... at www.theratingsguy.com

The Ratings Guy has recognized websites in order to help consumers find the great sites sooner. Personal experience with the websites helps consumers find superior, safe and reliable information websites that meet or exceed high standards.

“Improving Foodies on-line experience is one thing we do, but finding websites that appeal to Foodies and educate while being entertaining at the same time is another”, said Katherine Morrow, co-founder of TheRatingGuy.com. “Finding great on-line sources for products is also part of our purpose, it isn't a great site unless the products are worthy”, she added.

The Ratings Guy was developed by a team, experienced in the consumer research and ratings field and frustrated with the search industry's inability to separate advertising from editorial. The company reviews and rates websites across an array of popular consumer lifestyle categories including: health, travel, house & home, pets, gourmet food, kids, shopping, and more. The Ratings Guy is an independent and objective resource, supported by research librarians and researchers (the original search engines) who seek to identify the very best Web resources. The company uses a proprietary review methodology to test sites against its own benchmarks for transparency, accuracy, timeliness, functionality, trust, and usefulness. For more information about all of the lifestyle categories visit The Ratings Guy.

Contact:

John Morrow, Principal
The Ratings Guy, LLC
Tel: 207-338-0440
Fax: 207-636-8060
www.theratingsguy.com.
Electronic Media Kit:
<http://www.theratingsguy.com/PressKit/presskit.html>

Editors note: The Ratings Guy rating and review data is available at no charge to members of the working press. Use of the annotations from this list must be accompanied by: "Copyright 2007 by TheRatingsGuy.com."

###

Contact Information:

The Ratings Guy

John Morrow

207-338-0440

KMorrow@TheRatingsGuy.com

www.TheRatingsGuy.com

44 High Street

Belfast, Maine 04915

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/44008>