

Free Boob Job Giveaway Winner Announced

Hundreds of women entered the random drawing but Jessica Levine of Miami, FL walked away with a free breast augmentation sponsored by MyFreeImplants.com and New Me Institute. Jenna Jameson presented the winning check to Jessica in front of a packed crowd. The second annual giveaway was the grand finale at this years Erotica-LA convention.

Los Angeles, CA, July 09, 2007 --(PR.com)-- MyFreeImplants.com just completed a successful 3-day extravaganza at the Erotica-LA convention, a sexuality and lifestyle exposition, which culminated with its second annual free boob job giveaway. Hundreds participated in the giveaway that was sponsored by MyFreeImplants.com & New Me Institute. The breast augmentation is valued at $5,000 and will be completed at The New Me Institute by the talented Dr. Shane Sheibani, Founder and CEO.

Hundreds of women entered the random drawing conducted on stage in front of thousands of show attendees. Jessica Levine of Miami, FL heard her name drawn and she had this to say, "Thank you MyFreeImplants.com, I can't believe I'm getting a new set of boobs, I am so excited. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you." Jessica, a current member of MyFreeImplants.com online community, has decided to use her winnings to increase her bust size from a B cup to a D. The 28 year old has wanted the surgery since she was 16 years old and won the giveaway on her birthday weekend. MyFreeImplants.com was very pleased with the outcome of the show and the giveaway. Co-founder Jason Grunstra had this to say, "Erotica-LA was another huge success for MyFreeImplants.com and a lucky show attendee. On our website it can take a few months for women to raise enough money for a free boob job, whereas at the show they can increase their bust size in just a few days."

The giveaway was particularly popular in its second year thanks in part to Jenna Jameson promoting the giveaway on The Kevin & Bean Show on the World Famous KROQ. She had this to say on air "How cool is that. Where else can you attend an amazing sexuality convention and walk away with a new rack." Ms. Jameson was also nice enough to officially hand over the giveaway check and pose for pictures with the winner. She congratulated Jessica and told her, "Every girl deserves a nice rack."

MyFreeImplants.com is overwhelmed to have the support of the biggest name in the industry. Co-founder Jason Grunstra stated, "We're trying to do big things and no one is bigger than Jenna. Having her on board with our cause gives us that much more energy to keep fighting for small breasted women all around the world."

MyFreeImplants.com is a not for profit financier of cosmetic surgeries throughout the world. The site works much the same way a dating web site works. Think MySpace with a twist; an online community, complete with profiles, blogs, photos, chat and more. Women and men sign up, and communicate online with all proceeds going to the ladies cosmetic surgery goals. In 2007, the MyFreeImplants community will raise over half a million dollars for breast augmentations.

###

Contact Information:

MyFreeImplants.com

Jay Moore

323-244-4287

press@myfreeimplants.com

http://myfreeimplants.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/44532>

News Image:

