

Designing-Diva Jewelry Announces Love & Hope Necklace Design to Benefit Ovarian Cancer Research Fund (OCRF)

Designing-Diva Jewelry has created a teal fused glass design, Love & Hope Necklace, that will benefit the Ovarian Cancer Research Fund (OCRF). 25% of the proceeds from each necklace sold has been pledged to the OCRF.

Dallas, TX, August 06, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Designing-Diva Jewelry has pledged to donate 25% of the proceeds from the sale of the Love & Hope Necklace to the Ovarian Cancer Research Fund (OCRF).

The OCRF is dedicated to advancing research, raising awareness, and finding a cure for ovarian cancer. This is an important women's health issue because there is currently no effective means of early detection for the disease. As a result, ovarian cancer is the leading cause of death from gynecologic cancers in the United States.

"I translated my passion to create wearable art into a design that can assist the OCRF in it's mission to educate and prevent this deadly disease in women," states Randi-Sue Deckard, the jewelry artist. "As a woman, daughter, mother and girlfriend to many, I want to make a difference by supporting this worthy cause."

A woman's lifetime risk of ovarian cancer is 1 in 67. You can support this worthy cause by purchasing a Love & Hope Necklace for yourself or a loved one here:
