

Seeaarch.com Launches New Free Driving Directions Comparison Service in August

Seeaarch.com launches a new service to provide free driving directions comparison. This free driving directions comparison service allows internet users to compare all major internet map providers' driving directions in one web page, side by side, with one click.

Cary, NC, August 09, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Have you experienced the difficulty that an address can be found in Google maps, but not in Mapquest? Does Google maps and yahoo maps return totally different driving directions? Are you frustrated to type the same address five times in five different websites?

If the answer is "Yes" you may find the free driving directions comparison service which is provided by Seeaarch.com to be really useful.

Seeaarch.com launches a new web service to provide free driving directions comparison in Aug, 2007. This web service allows internet users to compare all major internet map providers' driving directions in one web page, side by side. Instead of typing the same address 3 times in 3 different website, the internet user only needs to type from address and to address once to obtain driving directions from all major internet maps providers.

Here is the link to test the new free driving directions comparison:
<http://www.seeaarch.com/seeaarchmap/indexmap.htm>

www.seeaarch.com is one of the popular multiple search websites displaying multiple search results from all major search engines in the same web page.

###

Contact Information:

Seeaarch.com
Carol Heung
888-334-6932
webmaster@seeaarch.com
www.seeaarch.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/48153>

News Image:

