

TeleType Portable GPS Navigation Product Awarded GSA Advantage Contract

The TeleType GPS WorldNav 3100 Premium has been awarded a GSA Advantage contract allowing government agencies to easily purchase this portable navigation system.

Boston, MA, August 17, 2007 --(PR.com)-- TeleType is pleased to announce the availability of the WorldNav 3100 Premium via GSA Advantage (www.GSAadvantage.com) allowing government agencies to easily purchase this portable navigation system.

Based on TeleType's award-winning GPS product line, the WorldNav 3100 is a compact system that weighs only 6 ounces. The device is user-friendly and simple to operate, making it easy for drivers to get from Point A to Point B. To operate the system, drivers touch the screen where a simple menu is presented just like in-dash navigation systems. The driver is then guided along their desired route effortlessly. Drivers can navigate directly to a point of interest (POI) using the extensive POI database included, or a business, home address, or even a desired street intersection.

Key Features:

- * Door-to-Door GPS Navigation
 - * Pronounces street names in English or Spanish
- Example: In 200 feet, Turn Left on Arlington Street
- Touch Screen
- * Includes U.S. 50 states, Puerto Rico and Canada Maps
 - * Most extensive POI database in the industry
 - * 12+ million POIs Preloaded
 - * Find businesses by Phone Number or Address
 - * Illustrates Graphic Landforms (rivers, lakes, shorelines, and parks)
 - * Rechargeable Li-On Battery
 - * Unlimited amount of Waypoints
 - * Additional maps available for Europe and Latin America
