Thousand Oaks Insurance Agency, based in California, has announced today it is offering instant, free health insurance quotes for California residents through their new quoting system at www.HealthInsuranceShopper.com.

Thousand Oaks, CA, September 05, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Thousand Oaks Insurance Agency, based in California, has announced today it is offering instant, free health insurance quotes for California residents through their new quoting system at www.HealthInsuranceShopper.com.

"Our goal is to empower California residents with the tools and resources necessary to find affordable California health insurance. This new site is an exceptional tool. It's very user-friendly, allows immediate access to quotes from leading health insurers, and best of all doesn't require visitors to provide their personal information," says Pat Knowd, the agent involved with the creation of the new site.

The internet offers tremendous opportunities for California consumers to consider all their health insurance options so they can make informed decisions. Presently, if you search for health insurance online, most sites require you to submit your private information via an online form, only to be informed that an agent will contact you by phone. Other large health insurance sites provide immediate quotes but force you to deal with large, impersonal calling centers.

"We feel like we've combined the best of both worlds with access to all the leading health insurance plans as well as the personal service of a friendly and knowledgeable agent." Many shoppers prefer access to quotes and information immediately and that's what we've achieved here. On HealthInsuranceShopper.com, after you enter your age and zip code, quotes for dozens of plans are illustrated with links to benefit details and provider directories for each plan. You may then contact Thousand Oaks Insurance Agency by phone for personal service or apply directly online.

With hundreds of satisfied clients, Thousand Oaks Insurance has been a leading California Health Insurance Agency since 1997. "We offer the best and most popular insurance carriers available to individuals, families, businesses and Medicare-aged California Residents. We hope that people will utilize HealthInsuranceShopper.com, as it is quickly becoming our most valuable tool in reaching Californians seeking affordable alternatives."

"There are affordable health insurance options in California and we want to help Californians find it," says Pat Knowd, owner of Thousand Oaks Insurance Agency. "
