

Is UFC Fighter Alessio Sakara Working for the Italian Sweatshop?

Miami, FL, September 08, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Sources confirm that UFC Fighter, Alessio Sakara, is representing the Italian Sweatshop.

As displayed at the most recent UFC 75 press conference, Italian Sweatshop (www.italiansweatshop.com), a “driving the edge” apparel company has jumped at the chance to be one of Sakara's new sponsors. In fact they are so pleased with Sakara, that they made sure that he is well supported at UFC 75.

After monitoring Sakara's training schedule over the past 60 days, it didn't take long for Italian Sweatshop to contact Fight Management Group (Sakara's Management Company) and let them know how excited they are to be supporting the Italian Fighter in his upcoming bout against Houston Alexander.

The sweatshop has joined a list of sponsors supporting Sakara's future, which include Gold Ribbon Valley (www.goldribbonvalley.com), The Miami Budokai, and New Breed (www.nbmma.com).
