

Announcing the Online Training and Consulting Service LearningMeasure.com

Henderson, NV, September 13, 2007 --(PR.com)-- This release is to announce the online training and consulting service LearningMeasure.com. This LearningMeasure.com website, and its associated video podcast LearningMeasure.tv, exist as resources for training scientists, engineers, technicians, and technically-minded individuals in technical subjects with emphasis on measurement.

The course material on LearningMeasure.com is available for a $5/month subscription after a two-week free trial period, however there are many areas of the site that require registration, but does not require subscription. Individuals can post their resumes on the service, which will also contain a record of all training courses taken by the individual.

LearningMeasure.tv is the video podcast associated with the LearningMeasure.com service. It is free, and will cover technical topics relevant to the LearningMeasure.com content, and requested by the viewership.

###

Contact Information:

LearningMeasure.com

David Archer

702-572-9673

webmaster@learningmeasure.com

www.learningmeasure.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/51565>

News Image:

