

Football (Soccer) Fans Worldwide Gather for Chat, Videos, Photos and Blogs on New Site: www.FootballCorner.eu

Football/soccer has enjoyed a recent surge in popularity due to publicity boons like last year's resounding FIFA success and the antics of player/celebrities like David Beckham. The debut of FootballCorner.eu provides fans with a global interactive forum to meet, exchange news, gossip, transfers, scores, videos and photos about their favorite sport.

Berlin, Germany, September 10, 2007 --(PR.com)-- The net's newest and most comprehensive hangout for football (soccer) fans worldwide has unveiled a brand new interactive social site for followers of the sport. Boasting multiple features such as Video, photo galleries, news feeds in four languages, and member blogs, www.footballcorner.eu is set to pull fans from all four corners into one large community. Responding to the recent swell in interest and a marked increase in fans and followers of soccer, FootballCorner.eu has debuted and positioned itself to catch a prime market share of the fan base. Users will finally have an area dedicated to worldwide exchange of information, news and commentary on the sport.

Although many sites exist that focus on a team, or a nation's specific teams, a worldwide site without management or sponsorship oversight is definitely needed. FootballCorner.eu has met this need, providing a web space that is team-neutral and un-sponsored. The owner and creator, states that outreach and information sharing between clubs and fans of different teams is one of the main goals, "I just want fans from different clubs to talk to one another, to share information, news and transfers."

FootballCorner.eu captures the reader first with frequently updated news feeds in 4 main languages, and then goes on to provide personal profile - storage and sharing space for video, pictures and blogs. Chat boards make sharing stats and industry gossip easy and convenient.

Supporters can begin to promote their team immediately, with sign up at the Football Forum now.
