

A Letter from Santa That Does so Much More

Christian Santa Letters launches website and commits 50% of net profits to buy gifts for the needy this Christmas.

Atlanta, GA, October 19, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Every year thousands of adults across the country buy personalized letters from Santa for their children or a child in their lives. This year, the letters that are purchased can put a smile on more than just the faces of the children receiving the letters. Christian Santa Letters has launched their website at www.christiansantaletters.com and is committing 50% of the net profits to purchase gifts for children who may have otherwise missed a visit from St. Nick.

“I know what it's like to receive an unexpected blessing and what a difference it can make” says Joe Wright, founder of Christian Santa Letters. “Now I want to be on the other side, blessing others like I have been blessed. Every child deserves to enjoy Christmas and we want to help as many children as we can.” Joe is committed to ensuring that 100% of the donated funds go directly to purchasing gifts, not for administrative or any other expenses.

Christian Santa Letters is also different than other companies offering letters from Santa because all of their letters to children talk about the birth of Jesus and that it is better to give than to receive. They don't just offer a Christian version like many websites; it's all they do. There are currently three versions of the letters available (Standard, Parent in Military and First Christmas) and all letters can be fully personalized to include the child's name, things the child did well, gifts the child has been asking for and more.

It appears that the spirit of Christmas really is alive at Christian Santa Letters. Christian Santa Letters is based in Acworth, Georgia and can be reached at 1-866-S-LETTER (1-866-753-8837).
