These events will be open to spectators as they are filmed for television. With ten players having at least $100,000 each in play, over $1 million in cash is expected to be on the table each night.

Rick Rahim, Founder of the Executive Poker Tour, states "We're expecting a terrific mix of amateur poker players as well as many executives who desire to support our organization." Rahim went on to report that many professional poker players have committed to attending and signing autographs.

Players attending the main event include Lee Childs (2007 W.S.O.P Final Table), Rhett Butler (2006 W.S.O.P. Final Table), and Steve Dannenmann (2005 W.S.O.P. Final Table).

The main event will be filmed for later broadcast on television. Participating players will be rotated through the Featured TV Table all day Friday.

The Executive Poker Tour supports Project Lifesaver International. Players wishing to guarantee a seat at the Featured TV Table will be able to do so by making a small tax-deductible contribution to Project Lifesaver when registering for the event.

A special room rate of $65.89 has been arranged at the Trump Taj Mahal. Players wishing to reserve a room may call 1-800-72-POKER.
