

Denver Based Shycon.com Launches New Site and Design Services, Keeps Business Dollars Local

Shycon Design launched a new site today and revealed they have added more services to their already impressive resume. They are now offering services in graphic design, web site design, computer aided drafting and 3D design and animation.

Denver, CO, November 26, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Today Shycon Design effectively became Denver's new one-stop shop for graphic design services. With the launch of their new web site came an expanded list of new services offered by the firm.

By becoming the first area business to offer services in graphic design, web site design, computer aided drafting and 3D design and animation, Shycon Design has made the lives of business owners requiring such services a little easier

“I believe this is something that's been needed in the area for quite some time,” said Creative Director Bartek Franek. “I don't know why it's taken so long for someone to offer all of these services in one place. It just makes sense.”

In the past, a company had to look elsewhere to find all of these services in one place, most of the time turning to other major cities. By launching their expanded list of services, Shycon has not only clinched the Denver area market, they have found a way to help the local economy by keeping business dollars local.
