Atlanta, GA, December 07, 2007 --(PR.com)-- Unique keychain case design conveniently stores and protects ear buds.

Extended Access, Inc. announces the BudCase, an innovative ear bud keychain case for the iPhone, iPod, and MP3 music lovers. The BudCase is designed to provide quick and easy access to ear buds anytime, anyplace, anywhere.

Born out of the frustrating fact that when leaving home, many people simply forget to bring their ear buds. The BudCase's innovative design solves this problem. The BudCase is designed to be clipped onto a keychain where ready access to a music lover's ear buds is made immediately available. Built from a flexible neoprene material, the BudCase securely holds ear buds while clipped on a keychain. A Velcro fastener makes opening and closing the BudCase quick and easy. Additional features include a second pocket which can be used to hold a USB memory drive or a spare key.

“Getting frustrated with not being able to listen to the music on my iPhone because I would always forget to bring my ear buds inspired me. Wow what a profound difference!” said Chris Dawson, CEO of Extended Access, Inc. “Now whenever I want to listen to my iPhone, I simply pull out my keys and presto. My ear buds are ready to go.”

The BudCase is compatible with most ear buds including those shipped with the iPhone and iPod. It is available in four colors and retails for $14.95. BudCase is available for order now on the www.budcase.com website for $14.95. For more details go to www.budcase.com.
