

Central Florida Box Corporation Relocates to Lake Mary, Florida

Growth and increased demand requires Central Florida Box Corporation, a leading manufacturer of corrugated packaging and POP displays, to relocate from Orlando to larger facility in Lake Mary, Florida.

Orlando, FL, February 15, 2006 --(PR.com)-- Beginning in April 2006, Central Florida Box Corporation (CFB Display Group) will be located at 2950 Lake Emma Road, Suite 1000, in Lake Mary, Florida. The new building is approximately 22 miles from CFB's current Orlando location on 34th Street.

The 190,000-square-foot building at 2950 Lake Emma Road will combine CFB's office, warehouse and manufacturing space all under one roof. In particular, the building will feature over 150,000 sq. ft. of production and warehouse space, with an additional 40,000 sq. ft. of office space. This is nearly three times the size of CFB's current locations combined.

“We've seen some phenomenal growth at Central Florida Box Corporation over the past few years,” said Jeff Ramsey, President & General Manager. “We feel this move will allow us to better serve both our customers and our employees. We attribute much of our current success to being a leader in our industry by integrating computer technology in the unique Display and Packaging industry.”

For more than 25 years, the Ramsey family has worked hard to make Central Florida Box Corporation, a leading manufacturer of corrugated packaging and POP displays, a standard of excellence in the corrugated box and display industry. “High tech design integrated with state-of-the-art equipment are a strategic part of our business that help us to quickly process customer orders, manage inventory, and allow for customized products throughout Florida and surrounding states.”
