

ProFund Real Estate Releases New San Diego Foreclosure Service and Web Interface

ProFund Financial & Real Estate announces new foreclosure service and web interface through their website www.profundrealestate.com

San Diego, CA, February 09, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Founded in 2004, ProFund Financial & Real Estate has grown dramatically since its inception by helping buyers and real estate investors find, track, assess and negotiate successfully. With over 20 years of combined experience and a background in finance and San Diego real estate, ProFund is able to assess opportunities for clients from a whole new perspective.

This new technology is available to the public for free. Allowing them to track and find foreclosure opportunities for purchasing a home or investment properties. Given the unprecedented rise in foreclosures in San Diego many buyers and investors are looking for access to these opportunities now accessible through www.profundrealestate.com

There are currently over 10,000 properties in San Diego County at some stage in the foreclosure process. This revolutionary interface aggregates information on properties in the foreclosure process through various data sources. Until now, accessing and tracking this information has been a cumbersome and manual process. Users can now search by several different methods to find Notice of Defaults, Notice of Trustee Sales dates, opening auction bids and access to funding sources for acquisition. Once people have access to this information they can then use it to acquire properties through several means such as auction sales, short sales or bank owned listings. In addition to the website, ProFund offers monthly real estate and foreclosure seminars to investors and homebuyers to educate people on the properties, lending and acquisition strategies. Through this service and implementation of these strategies investors have information that can help them acquire properties below market value.

The new service by ProFund Real Estate opens up the foreclosure investing market to everyone.
