

For Valentine's Day Give Gift of Love and Compassion to Alcoholics

Turn Valentine's Day into a day to give something really big.

Tampa Bay, FL, February 14, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Give the gift of love, compassion and help to someone suffering from alcoholism. Co-authors, Karen Gregg Price and Joseph Price, today pre-released a stunning sample chapter of the book, "Simply Quit Drinking: An Inspirational Journey From Near Death", available at the Web site www.SimplyQuitDrinking.com.

The book is different from most because the co-author couple tell two different perspectives. The book also discusses how American society enables alcoholism. The co-authors will be interviewing on the Internet radio broadcast Saturday, February 16 at 4:00 at www.ReachingPeakShow.com, also aired on WTAN 1340 AM.

The book is an inspirational story with a "no holds barred" attitude on how bad alcoholism can crush a promising young life. It also implicates society norms and laws for sustaining alcoholism.

"It will fill you with disgust, and then hope, inspiration and knowledge," says Karen Gregg Price. "I'm basically coming out of the closet at my own risk to help others," says Price. "I also suffered one of the longest functional blackouts, confirmed by experts, which you can read about in the book."

"I'm impressed with my wife's courage to go public to help others," says Co-author and husband, Joseph Price. "It was an incredible journey for me too, to watch as my wife overcame drinking herself to death. I included my point of view in the book to help families cope, to share my despair, and also reveal the ugliness of alcoholism."

The book is scheduled to be published in March by Reaching Peak LLC. Founded in 2006, Reaching Peak LLC provides knowledge in personal development and motivational resources through The Reaching Peak Show and other products.
