

Opticalstars Presents Its New Eyewear Spring Collections

Muenchen, Germany, February 23, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Opticalstars - distributor of unique European eyewear to North America - announces the start of sales for its new eyewear spring collections. There have been various new models released of the three eyewear brands on distribution.

At Futurestyle brand, fully made in Germany, six new models (Models 740 to 745) have been released. Each model is available in three color variations. All Futurestyle eyeglasses frames have been manufactured with modern laser technology and are made out of stainless steel. The strong understatement design in clear proportions is exemplified with persistent screwless hinge construction.

Freestyle brand also comes out with seven new lifestyle models (Models 7017 to 7024). They provide a mix of materials combined with full rim, nylon or rimless design. The modern appearance is supported by intensive and fashionable colors that do either contrast each other or merge in harmony.

Additionally, Optical Games brand features five new models (Models Cool 30/31 and Models Classic 22 to 24). Whereas the three new Classic models are best for use as individually prescribed reading glasses the two Cool models bring out a the contemporary styling trend best.

"There is no reason to stay stuck in winter with eyeglasses frames, as new Opticalstars spring collection has many eye-catcher models to excite spring feelings." explained Michael Boock, manager of Opticalstars. The broad range of models, styles and colors available are able to suit personalities of any age.
