New York, NY, March 04, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Air charter broker LuxeJets LLC, headquartered in Manhattan, New York, announced today it has launched (www.luxe-jets.com) LuxeJets Credit Services LLC--a company specializing in assisting owners of private aircraft with new financing, refinancing and leasing of new and used aircraft. "Our preferred lenders include and go beyond the typical mainstream players in the field, providing our company with a competitive edge to secure low interest rate financing," contends Dave Cooperman, president and CEO of LuxeJets and LuxeJets Credit Services.

"Dozens of aircraft owners have already benefited from our refinancing options," Cooperman said. "With the economy where it is, with interest rates remaining at an all-time low, this is a perfect time to lock in low rate financing. Any money in your pocket is better than in your lender's!"

Cooperman said that through LJCS' financial relationships, the company has already been able to secure rates below prime for both new and existing aircraft owners.

"Our new and innovative financing solutions are accepted by both the domestic and international aircraft markets," he said. "We work hard to ensure an aircraft owner enters into a finance scenario that meets all their objectives and at the lowest rates. That's what we do best."

Cooperman said that LJCS has hired a full-time quality assurance auditor, who will consult clients on maximizing the value of their aircraft investments on the finance side in addition to auditing aircraft selections for their charter clients.
