

Betpuls.com Gives You Knowledge

The online gambling industry is a fairly new industry, it is a few people that sit with a lot of knowledge and they are highly attractive on the work market. Betpuls.com has just started and will make it easier for everyone to get the knowledge they need from one source and without too much hassle.

Sliema, Malta, March 07, 2008 --(PR.com)-- A person that works at one company is interested in news about Unibet.com or Betsson.com in Scandinavia, and a person at another company wants to read anything there is to read about Bwin.com. Instead of searching all the many news sites out there, Betpuls.com is doing the job for you. Betpuls.com scout for news that is relevant for people that work in the online gambling industry. Betpuls.com will help feed the business with knowledge. Each article has its own comments section where discussion help the visitor to get more information. Information given by other members or visitors are often more valuable than the article itself.

All companies in the gambling industry are interested about legal news, new jurisdictions, news regarding monopoly changes and how that can affect their business, by using Betpuls.com data like this is accessible. Everyone can now start building their knowledge-bank that leads to higher value on the work market for the individual visitor. With many talented people already using Betpuls.com, the section for job opportunities <http://www.betpuls.com/List/23/job-opportunities.html> is a highly visited section. Betpuls.com charge no fee for providing this service, neither for the visitor or publisher. Both software suppliers <http://www.betpuls.com/List/21/software-suppliers.html> and other gambling companies can contact jobs@betpuls.com and have their vacancies published.

During the one month that Betpuls.com has been live, over 400 high value, carefully selected articles have been shared and more are being published every day.

Betpuls.com listens to each visitor and welcomes feedback of new sections and type of news to scout for. Visitors are also given the option to upload their own articles that are relevant to the online gambling industry.

###

Contact Information:

betpuls.com

Anders Svensson

+44 77 895 845 06

news@betpuls.com

www.betpuls.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/75295>