

The Guitar Wall Adds More Space for Boutique and Custom Builders

Santa Ana, CA, March 07, 2008 --(PR.com)-- GSi Guitar Network, the publisher of The Guitar Wall (www.theguitarwall.com) announced the addition of Wall #7, the Boutique Builders Wall, known as the "Premium Showcase of Extraordinary Instruments." The new wall is comprised of only 50 display blocks, 17 of which were acquired by boutique and custom guitar builders and dealers in the first 72 hours after its launch on February 29, 2008.

The Boutique Builders Wall was created after the Custom Guitar Wall, serving much the same market, was filled to maximum capacity with over 50 builders and dealers in a little more than three months time.

About The Guitar Wall

The Guitar Wall, known as "The Official Wall Space for Guitar, Bass, Amps and Accessories", is a novel resource for guitar players and enthusiasts as well as an effective marketing vehicle for guitar builders, related manufacturers, suppliers and dealers. Developed by producer and publisher, Jeffrey D Brown, the well-known site takes the digital wall concept to a highly refined commercial level. It is efficient, engaging, organic and ongoing. Wall space is currently available.
