Glendale, CA, April 03, 2008 --(PR.com)-- MMOABC.com, a property of New Gen Media, Inc. and a rapidly growing international MMO games community website with over half a million visitors per month, has partnered exclusively with GameVee to offer gamers free high quality game-play videos and trailers. Gamers will be able to watch, upload, vote, comment, highlight, and share thousands of their favorite or personal game-play videos powered by GameVee.

“MMOABC.com is delighted to partner exclusively with GameVee to offer high quality game videos and trailers to our gaming community,” said MMOABC.com co-founder and CEO Andy Tong. “Allowing our members to upload 300 MB high quality game videos is a huge leap for the industry and also validates our core mission to empowering our gamers.”

“As the pioneer game-play video social community, we're very excited about providing our GameVee video hosting service to MMOABC.com members,” said GameVee.com founder and CCO Jason Bradicich. “The combination of our unique features gives gamers all over the world a very rich and diverse community experience.”

About GameVee

GameVee is the fastest growing game-play video sharing websites. Founded in 2007 by 20-year-old Jason Bradicich, GameVee now leads the industry in web 2.0 features, such as Highlight. These empower users to share, promote, communicate, and network around their game-play videos. Gamers can view glitches, how-tos, reviews, secrets and more, for today's leading video games and game platforms.
