

Coppari Celebrates the Launch of Its Website with the Introduction Coppari's Exclusive Tungsten Carbide Jewelry Collection

Coppari celebrates the launch of its website with the debut of a unique collection of tungsten jewelry that is truly unlike any other rings. Dubbed the David Collection, Coppari has put a distinctly different twist on the traditional fashion rings, engagement rings and wedding bands.

Redondo Beach, CA, April 07, 2008 --(PR.com)-- The David Collection of tungsten carbide rings was specifically designed with the wearer's comfort in mind. Each piece within the collection hugs the contours of your finger to create the perfect fit and prevent the ring from spinning on your finger.

Coppari Jewelry captivates you by the clearness of its forms. The exciting dialogue between form and color represents both a motivation and challenge for the creative work of the Coppari Designers. Coppari Tungsten Carbide jewelry is very appropriate for all occasions.

The aesthetic appeal of the David Collection reinforces Coppari's reputation as an innovative manufacturer of tungsten engagement rings and tungsten wedding bands. Composed of fluidity in style and flanked by an elegant design, each style embodies a sense of individual beauty and uniqueness.

Coppari also offers excellent titanium bracelets. Modern designs that appeal to each individual.

Stainless steel jewelry was Coppari's original flagship jewelry collection. You will find many stainless steel rings and bracelets also on the website.

The Coppari David Collection can be seen only through their website at Coppari Jewelry
