

Cellhut Celebrates Earth Day with a Special Recycling Program

One of the leading sellers of unlocked phones is celebrating Earth Day by allowing customers to send their old phone to the Cellhut office to be recycled.

New York, NY, April 16, 2008 --(PR.com)-- In appreciation of Earth Day, during April 18th to the 22nd, Cellhut will be recycling any cell phone that people mail to the main office. This is an initiative to raise awareness about how throwing old cell phones into the trash can be harmful to the planet because the metals and plastic cannot be broken down.

Cellhut.com has been an e-commerce site since 1996 and has prided itself on delivering not only the best prices on unlocked phones, but the best possible customer service to ensure that the people who do business with Cellhut.com are completely happy with their purchase.

This recycling program is an extension of Cellhut's commitment to making a positive impact in people's lives. The President of Cellhut Bawa Bhasin says, "By offering people the chance to send us their old phones to be recycled we enable them to make a difference in the world."

In addition to Cellhut's cell phone recycling program, the site is offering special discounts on selected phones. All the phones listed in the advertisement are low in energy consumption and are perfect for the environmentally conscious cell phone user.

The address to send unwanted phones to be recycled is:

Cellhut.com
40W 39ST 5th floor
NY, NY. 10018

To request a USPS Call Tag so that the shipping of the cell phone is free, please email info@cellhut.com for more information.

The newsletter featuring the special deals is at:
