

Excellence in Project Management

Philadelphia, PA, May 09, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Michael C. Aquilino, President and CEO of Innovational Services, announced the rollout of the unique “Project Management Excellence” Workshop as well as the “Project Management Excellence” program for organizations looking to achieve world class results in their project management competencies. Mr. Aquilino also announced that Thomas Rhoads, Vice President and co-creator will lead the workshops and organizational initiatives. Rhoads brings to the work 25 years of project management expertise as well as being a seasoned executive coach. Project Management Excellence extends well beyond the traditional methods such as mastering a work breakdown structure, project set up and the relationship of scope-budget-schedule. It tackles an area not addressed previously in the field, the human element or the role of thinking in the process. The program in particular considers the impact of thinking and human nature attached to two key drivers of project management, those of intention and accountability.

###

Contact Information:

Innovational Services

Michael C. Aquilino

610-645-9722

maquilino@innovationservices.com

innovationservices.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/84802>

News Image:

