

Xtreme Fun Opens for Jonas Brothers Concert

San Diego, CA, May 22, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Xtreme Fun Corp., an interactive, San Diego-based entertainment company, was the opening and closing entertainment for the Jonas Brothers campus invasion on Monday, May 19.

The company, which produces events for the who's who of Southern California, was asked by a Los Angeles media and marketing agency to be the pre- and post-concert entertainment at Adobe Bluffs Elementary School.

Nearly 800 kids, plus dozens of onlookers, were enthusiastically shrieking, dancing and clapping to the music despite the early morning heat. Company president and event DJ/MC, Scot Feld, had the entire crowd - students, teachers, parents and even members of several news crews that were in attendance - on their feet, doing dance routines, jumping up and down and singing along to the music.

"I've never had a DJ at my school before," commented one young student. "This is so cool."

Xtreme Fun provides entertainment for community and social events, individuals, businesses and organizations. The company was recently hired to DJ/MC the Union Tribune's Kids Magic Mile Race for Literacy in Balboa Park and is positioning itself to produce events on a national level in the near future.
