

Cellhut is Stocking the Next Generation of Phones from RIM, HTC, and Sony

One of the internet's leading sellers of unlocked phones is beginning to stock the most anticipated 3G phones of the year.

New York, NY, May 29, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Always a company to stay abreast on emerging technologies and to take into consideration the requests of customers, Cellhut is now stocking this year's most anticipated phones. The featured phones have a few uniting factors such as extensive use of 3G technology, paradigm-shifting design, and the reliability that comes with being manufactured by a brand-name company.

Cellhut is proud to be one of the most trusted sellers of unlocked mobile phones. Since 1996, the company has prided itself on delivering great customer service and offering the most competitive prices. The E-Commerce business requires a company to constantly be conscious of emerging technologies and how they integrate into society. Cellhut only offers the most reliable cell phones eschewing the models that perform poorly.

The three phones that Cellhut is proud to announce are making it into the warehouse are the Sony Xperia X1, Blackberry Bold, and HTC Touch Diamond.

The Sony Xperia X1 is poised to redefine the way people interact with their phones. Giving the user a touchscreen and a full QWERTY keyboard, Sony makes sure that it's got all the easy ways of inputting data covered. A 3.15 Megapixel camera, 400 Megabytes of internal memory and a Wi-Fi connection are just some of the other great features included with this phone.

The Blackberry Bold introduces RIM's new user interface emphasizing a more user friendly menu system. As if the immensely popular Blackberry needed another way to attract an audience, the bold streamlines the design giving it a more sophisticated edge. Fantastic features include 1 Gigabyte of internal storage, EDGE, a 2 Megapixel camera, 3.5mm headset jack, and over 5 hours of talk-time.

Finally, the HTC Touch Diamond takes the touchscreen technology that has made the Apple iPhone so popular and integrates its own twist on the technology. Using the TouchFLO software to make the process of navigating artists and the contact list a completely interactive experience, HTC has created a truly unique phone.
