

Live Relationship Advice is Just a Click Away

TPCLive.net Uses Technology and Real People to Preserve Love and Relationships.

York, PA, July 11, 2008 --(PR.com)-- TPCLive.net, the most full-featured, inexpensive relationship website for Professional People of Color is open for business. TPCLive.net seeks to separate itself from the crowded sea of dating websites by providing live relationship advice to its members and access to premiere singles. The primary goal of TPCLive.net is to create, build and help people maintain relationships.

Users will have all the functionality of the big-named sites without the big price tag. Tools and extras like Chats, Forums, Buddy Lists, Profile Ratings, and Live Relationship Advice will provide users with an experience that feels much more expensive, but does not go as deep into the pockets. TPCLive.net offers three levels of membership that are all affordable; Free, Gold and Platinum.

About TPCLive.net:

TPCLive.net is the newest relationship website and is a venture of The Perfect Combinations. After gaining notoriety through relationship events and singles parties, the owners of the company decided to take their company to the next level with the launch of TPCLive.net. TPCLive.net seeks to provide alternative means of meeting dating matches and life mates for Professional People of Color as well as offer relationship building advice via email, live or telephone advisors. TPCLive.net believes that by being a full-service relationship provider for the lowest cost they will attract customers who are in it for the long haul.

When it comes to dating websites and relationship networks, TPCLive.net will force other sites to rethink their game plan in terms of cost and services provided.
