

Global Creatif Financial and PropertyGuru Announce Partnership To Bring Mortgage Advice Online

Singapore, Singapore, July 11, 2008 --(PR.com)-- Singapore's top mortgage consulting firm, Global Creatif Financial (www.globalcreatif.com) and Singapore's leading property portal, www.PropertyGuru.com.sg, have teamed up to help consumers get easier and faster access to mortgage advice.

Under the partnership, PropertyGuru's clients in Singapore and overseas can access free tools online and mortgage advice from Global Creatif's team of over 300 Accredited Mortgage Consultants (AMCs). Consumers will also be offered the following services for free:

Mortgage Healthcheck - with Singapore's interest rates at an all-time low over the past 5 years, consumers are able to quickly find out whether they can save on their monthly mortgage installments either by refinancing or restructuring their loans.

Approval in Principle - consumers will be able to receive peace of mind from a mortgage approval-in-principle (AIP) before proceeding with their property purchase. This will save unnecessary stress and hassles in case the loan does not materialize and the 1% paid. Getting an AIP will give an indication on the loan amount and financing quantum that the consumer can get from the financiers.

Home Valuation - buyers receive an indicative valuation for the property from bank-approved valuers, before proceeding with their home purchase. This indicative valuation will assure the consumer that the property to be purchased is within the valuation.

Mortgage Tools - online services to help consumers calculate mortgage repayments and how much they can borrow (affordability) based on different factors such as type of mortgage, interest rates and loan term.

Guides and Tips - helpful articles covering terminology, different types of packages available and things to think about before making home loan decisions.

Interest Rates - access to the current and historical 3 and 12 month trends for Singapore's base interest rate, the SIBOR (Singapore Inter-Bank Offer Rate).

Approximately 150,000 people use PropertyGuru.com.sg's website every month, to purchase, rent or research property. Many of these consumers already own a Singapore home or are looking to buy one, and as such will benefit from the new mortgage services offered under the Global Creatif Financial and PropertyGuru partnership.

“PropertyGuru is an ideal partner for us due to its large number of Singapore and overseas clients focused on property decisions, and its market-leading property portal position in Singapore” stated Ms Annie Lim, Managing Director of Global Creatif Financial Pte Ltd.

“We are delighted to be partnering with the leading mortgage advisory firm in Singapore to provide PropertyGuru's clients with a suite of home loan services and access to a network of experienced Accredited Mortgage Consultants” said Mr Steve Melhuish, Director at PropertyGuru.com.sg.

Some Mortgage Insights :

The Singapore mortgage market was valued at S$73.1 billion in 2007 (source: Monetary Authority of Singapore), a 15% increase over 2006. On a company level, GCF reported an estimated of 75% of all mortgage business in 2007 being for new purchases (source: Global Creatif Financial) due to the hot property sales market last year. Whilst the number of property sale transactions in Singapore has slowed down during the first half of 2008 compared with the previous year, the SIBOR (Singapore Inter-Bank Offer Rate) is at its lowest for 5 years. This fall in base rate has led to an increase in homeowners refinancing their mortgage loans in Singapore during 2008. As such, the trend is expected to be reversed with 'refinancing' as the key driver in 2008 and representing circa 75% of all mortgages this year (source: Global Creatif Financial).

Not all consumers refinance just to reduce mortgage interest rates - some do so to take out cash (Term Loan) from their mortgages. This opportunity has been assisted by the hot 2007 property market, and increases in property valuations. For example, a property valued at $1million 2 years ago may now be valued at $1.5million; this may cause a drop in loan to valuation of the property and therefore allow the consumer to borrow more.

Consumers currently on variable rates who want to achieve more stability/certainty, may also opt to move onto Fixed Rate Packages. In Singapore, fixed packages rates are higher compared to variable packages unlike some overseas countries where the opposite applies.

There are different motivations for consumers seeking a refinance of their loans. Many banks are offering aggressive incentives to entice these customers, even if they currently are locked-in to their existing home loan.

A mortgage loan is a vibrant financial instrument taken up to help consumers own that property. It is not meant to be the 'pledge of death' (as the word 'mortgage' may infer) hence, whatever package consumers currently have (if any) it is likely there will be new and refinancing home loan options available via Global Creatif Financial PropertyGuru's mortgage services.
