

Is It Possible to Grow Taller After Puberty? A New Supplement from Theros Labs, LLC Says “Yes.”

Los Angeles, CA, July 22, 2008 --(PR.com)-- It's no secret that many people are unhappy about their height. People are used to seeing taller individuals getting the attention and respect that we feel we deserve too. It seems unfair to that shorter or average sized individuals feel less confident and get less attention from the opposite sex simply because of the genetics we received from our parents. Well that may change soon due to a new product being developed by Theros Labs, LLC.

A new product claims that it is the first supplement that has been developed specifically for the purpose of height increasement. That's right, it's a product that is actually designed to make you grow taller. They call their product "Maxagen" and claim that they have seen results of up to 4 inches of height increase in many of their clients, many of whom have taken the product years after puberty. Maxagen says they have performed tests on various gender, age, and ethnic groups and seen height increases from 1 - 4 inches, sometimes gaining as much as 6 inches, with little to no negative side effects.

So why would someone want to become taller? Well, there are numerous reasons. Many studies have proven the correlation between being taller and having more self confidence, which may explain why the average American CEO or Politician is taller than the average American man. Many studies have also proven that a person's height is the first thing that is noticed about them in the human brain, even before that person's race or gender. A person's height also directly correlates to how attractive they are to the opposite sex. Numerous studies among women have proven that they tend to prefer men who are taller over shorter ones, and numerous studies among men have shown that they are more intimidated by taller males and tend to give them more respect.

So how does it work? Maxagen's website states that it contains 9 ingredients which have been selected for their ability to increase the production of HGH (Human Growth Hormone) in the human body. "HGH is what triggers our bodies to get that "growth spurt" that we get when reaching puberty." A Maxagen rep stated. "What Maxagen does is give adults a "second growth-spurt" by triggering the release of HGH that is lacking in their body." To get the maximum results you need to take four capsules daily, two in the morning and two in the evening. The complete course is 6 months, during the time of which you hopefully will see increased gains in your height.

The most amazing thing about Maxagen however may be the price. For a supplement making such extraordinary claims we expected the price to be somewhere around $100 or more per bottle. Many people stated they were actually shocked when they found out that it was only $39.95 per bottle. An affordable price indeed. "We think our product is a breakthrough that will change people's lives." a Maxagen representative said. "Part of our innovation is to have a product that not only does what we says it does, put is priced extremely affordably. We want our product to be used and benefited by all who need it."

While a Theros Labs spokesman said that their product may be released in retail stores in the near future, it is currently only available for purchase through their website www.maxagen.com. They will also provide two bottles free if a customer purchases the full six month course and offer a 90-day money back guarantee on all orders.

For more information: <http://www.maxagen.com>

Contact: support@maxagen.com

###

Contact Information:

Theros Labs, LLC
David Anderson
646-981-7061
support@maxagen.com
www.maxagen.com

Online Version of Press Release:

You can read the online version of this press release at: <http://www.pr.com/press-release/96252>

News Image:

