

Sajda Salah Mats Continue to Increase in Demand

The Sajda Company Inc finds a solution for praying on hard surfaces for Muslims.

Fairfax, VA December 04, 2013 --(PR.com)-- It's been a wonderful ending year for the Sajda Company which provides an orthopedic-support, portable, and water resistant prayer mat. The company was newly launched this year, originally selling at the local mosque in Fairfax, VA during Ramadan. Now due to high demand and interest from international companies, Sajda Salah Mats have been a big hit among the Islamic community. They initially started selling hundreds and now current production has escalated to tens of thousands of their colorful mats shipping out to the U.S. and the Middle East. "We are grateful and at the same time stoked by the impact we've got in a short time period, this demonstrates that our Sajda Mats are providing comfort solutions to all our Brother and Sisters around the globe, Thank God!," the founder, Kamran Hakimi said. The Sajda Company is working on upcoming projects implementing new ways to better the Muslim Community. The Sajda Company opened up their first office overseas in Dubai and are seeking partners around the globe. You can stop by their booth at ICNA Chicago or RIS Canada at the December 2013 conventions. "Stop by our booth and you can test out our Sajda Mat during prayers," Kamran confidently said. (Chi Booth #133)(CA Booth #809)
