About Pamela Poli DiSarro

Pamela Poli DiSarro is the founder of Boston Design Consultants, specializing in residential and commercial interior design. She is also an author and a spiritual, holistic, and transformational life coach with REALeyes your Best Life.

Inspired by her mother's love of interior design, Pamela was drawn to the field and opened her company after living in Italy where she worked as a model and managed a boutique. "I was inspired by my mother, who did a lot of interior design, and used to take me around looking at antiques," said Poli DiSarro.

Poli DiSarro published "It's All Good: How to Create Your Life on Purpose ... Rather Than Playing Victim to It" in 2019, and it was listed in the Top 10 self-help books in the United States. Inspired by her decades-long study of metaphysics and her work as a life coach, the book incorporates her perspective on a series of tragedies that struck her family, and how her attitude of trust, appreciation, and service allowed her to survive the unthinkable.

"It was the adage, 'live and learn' that led me to question the experiences in my own life and search for a better understanding of the human condition," said Poli DiSarro. "The introduction to the book is an autobiographical window into my own journey providing a glimpse into some of my 'live and learn' moments."
